

Curriculum Coordinator Report:

September 2023

Curriculum Alignment:

- I am scheduling meetings for next year and setting priorities for solidifying the alignment of the ELA curriculum and beginning the work of aligning the math curriculum.
- Several teachers have submitted pacing guides for their new class, which they worked on over the summer. I am beginning the process of reviewing those documents.

Professional development:

- I have been seeking out and scheduling professional development that is relevant for teachers and aligned with curriculum goals for next year. This includes the development of a committee on standards-based grading. The members of that committee will be attending four days of professional development throughout the school year.

Data

- Data meetings with Leigh Stark are scheduled for the purpose of going over state exam reports with teachers ,as well as to review the first i ready diagnostic results. Those results will be available at the end of September.

Individual Teacher Support:

- In preparation for school, the administration team has been making sure that all teachers have the resources they need to start the school year.

Planning and Preparation:

- I am organizing, strategizing, and creating resources to share with teachers next year, as well as creating professional development to share with staff during faculty meetings

AIS:

- Work continues on developing a strategic and consistent process for identifying the students who need additional support and targeting that support through the implementation of the MTSS framework.
